

Wyoming Campers

One of the Wyoming families outside of Cheyenne were on a vacation in the Shoshone National Forest in July of 2021 camping under the stars for the weekend. They were doing a family study of astrology knowing the old stories of Stavros putting the location of the home planet beyond Pleiades. Both John and his wife Mary are Stavrosian hybrids. John's family were German Stavrosians and Mary's family was from the Mediterranean.

Their children were made aware at an early age of their Stavrosian connection. John and his family have kept the secret while still keeping the custom of First Life. Their family trips to the national forest became a tradition. That started when they were looking for any sign from above that they might be looked for. This was just another camping trip for them to relax and have fun watching the stars. Around the fire each would ask what they would do if a Stavrosian ship came to rescue them. Sometimes they would say they would go. Other times they would all agree to stay here on earth as a family. This was after all their home world, the place of birth.

On the night of July 17, 2021 as they were all watching the night sky, a large triangular flying craft passed close to their camp site. All four of them came to their feet standing silently watching. Another craft passed over even closer. John told his children to get to the car. The two ran to the car to grab a camera.

Mary started to deep think to the craft, she was trying to make a mental connection. When John saw what she was trying to do he joined her in thought. What a thrill it would have been to make contact with anyone out there. Maybe someone would have news of Stavros.

John said, in all there were three triangular craft that had passed over that night. He reported Mary had made contact of sorts with someone or something that night. It was extremely hard to make out, let alone understand the images she was seeing. She said it was like trying to understand what a dog was thinking. Yet, the fact that she was successful in making a contact was an incredibly big deal in itself. One of the very few ever made by anyone.

John reported the incident to his local S.G.L. they passed it onto the library. The whole thing was less than five minutes. The children could only take just one picture with their camera. The picture was sent to the S.G.L. for them to study and analysis.

The S.G.L. reviewed the picture and reported that it was too grainy / of poor quality to be used. However, the S.G.L. photo lab review did state that there was in fact, some type of craft in the night sky. Although John's report was all the evidence they had, it was substantiated by his wife Mary and both children. The S.G.L. will take in account eyewitness reports from credible sources to back up written reports.
